Data Notes: Effects of Prisoner Reallocation

Delaware law now requires prisoners to be counted at their last known address before incarceration rather than at the correctional facility in which they are housed. Prisoners with a last known address from out of state will not be counted at all. The 2020 redistricting cycle is the first cycle to fully implement the policy and a preliminary data report completed by the Department of Elections has been completed and posted on the legislative redistricting webpage for review.

Relevant field sets that changed to reflect the prisoner reallocation policy are formatted to start as “Adj_XXX” and encompass the population and demographic field sets above.

The one exception is the field set titled “[Hispanic Origin]”. While completing the prisoner reallocation, the General Assembly’s software vendor noted that the Department of Correction’s demographic data did not include information on whether the prisoner was Hispanic. Therefore, this was not able to be accurately adjusted.

The missing data collection creates an inconsistency with the statistics for those of Hispanic origin. However, it is important to provide the public with an approximation of this population, and that is why the pre-adjusted data for this field set is included within the enclosed table.
